

Environmental Sustainable Practices in the Hotels and its Impact on Sustainability

Ms. Shahnaz Akhtar

*Assistant Professor, Department of Tourism Studies,
Central University of Kashmir, Ganderbal (J&K).
E-mail: sheenushavi@gmail.com, shahnazakhtar@cukashmir.ac.in*

---

Abstract—Hotel industry is considered as one of the industry which consumes lots of energy, water, generates tones of garbage to the environment and ultimately that lead to environmental decay and more. In order to keep in track with the negative environmental consequences, hoteliers should implement sustainable environmental practices in their daily business routine. Hospitality industry in the light of sustainability tourism development can play an important role towards sustainability with regard to triple bottom line of sustainability i.e.: environmental, social and economical sustinaliniy. So, it should be an utmost and foremost responsibility of the hoteliers to implement sustainable tourism practices in their daily business. The proposed study, will take only one dimension of sustainability i.e. environmental sustainability and to explore the existing environmental sustainable practices and its impact on sustainability. The Study will be conducted in selected hotels in the Srinagar city. Data will be collected through questionnaire and respondents will be operational managers of the selected hotels.

Keywords: Sustainable tourism development, hotel industry, environmental sustainability.